wodding its head between green leaves in the depth of the forest, is both beautiful and useful, for its root furnishes us with one of the best known medicines.

People get sick because they go away from Nature, and the only way to get well is to go back. Something grows out of the ground in the form of vegetation to cure almost every ill. Some of these vegetable growths are understood by man, and some are not. Animals, it would seem, know what to do when they are sick better than men and women. Observers have noted that a sick horse, dog or cat will stop eating food and seek out some vegetable growth in the field or yard, which, when found and eaten, often restores appetite and health. Haven't you seen these animals do this very thing

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found herbs and roots provided by Nature to overcome constipation, for he found a combination of May-apple, leaves of aloe and root of jalap rolled into a tiny sugar-coated pellet - called Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets - to be as effective as castor oil and much more pleasant to take. Food waste, if allowed to accumulate, stagnates and gives rise to poisonous matter. This if allowed to be absorbed into the blood produces 90% of the diseases that attack mankind. When your head feels dull—when your eyes lack the clear brightness of health, complexion muddy, or pimply, coated tongue or fetid breath-time to heed the warning and ask your druggist for the most reliable laxative, namely Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, sold by druggists for over half a century. None other half so good.
